Make a difference on the national stage

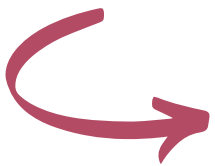

Are you a physician or health care professional interested in influencing national clinical practice guidelines?

Do you want to ensure the diverse needs and perspectives of people in Canada are reflected in guidelines?

Interested in building skills in interpreting and applying evidence in clinical practice?

The Canadian Task Force on Preventive Health Care needs you!

We are seeking new members to contribute their unique perspectives and expertise to guideline development, while also building skills in evidence synthesis and guideline development.

Canadian Task Force
on Preventive Health Care

"Where do screening guidelines fit in the context of older adults and how do we apply them? Often there isn't much evidence which makes it harder to care for older people. I want to make people think about that in guideline development."

- Dr. Henry Siu on joining the Task Force in 2020
